

Racing Interface

Noah Hinckley

Description: This feature will provide a visual aspect of the game which will display a window with live information such as positions of each car, the lap each car is on, the total running time, as well as the time each car has spent on the current lap.

Background information: This feature will work by extending the bottom of the game's window, and will have a text box to display all the information presented in the description.

Current goal: Have the window successfully extend